"Procrastination is the thief of time, collar him." I think what Charles Dickens is trying to say with this statement is that procrastination steals your time and that it should be eradicated from people's lives. I agree with this statement and I'll explain why:

PK3 8/ Firstly, postponing things will leave you significantly less time to finish what you had planned. You won't be able to concentrate properly if you rush whatever it is that you're doing. The result of your work will be much worse than it ~~could~~ ^{could} have been if you had started working earlier. 65

PK3 8/ Secondly, procrastination teaches you poor time-management skills. Instead of being productive, you fill your schedule with time-wasting activities or ^{you} just pointlessly stay idle. One day it will backfire and you won't be able to finish your work in time, which can only bring further ^{lex} disadvantages at school, work etc. 145

PK3 8/ I had all of these ^{things} happen to me. ^{8/} Procrastination made me hesitate working, which had caused me to almost fail several grades at once.

PK3 8/ To save myself, I tried doing all work ~~in several hours~~ in one sitting, which had resulted in my poor grades. ~~Nothing good came from this~~. This was stressful, but I learned my lesson. 192

PK3 8/ Procrastination holds you back in life and makes everything harder than it actually is. The hesitation (or laziness) is understandable but if you ~~care~~ ^{take care of it first} care about your future, then you should ~~put~~ ^{take care of it first} all your strength ~~into working hard and doing everything on time~~. ~~Take care of your future first~~, then you'll have all the time in the world to rest. 244
